Ramblings (Introductory and Comments)

Map of the Newmarket area of England from a website on Roman roads in Britannia. In this map, it shows the Roman road from near Great Shelford going through Newmarket and onto Thetford.

This area is where the counties of Cambridge, Norfolk and Suffolk meets.

Newmarket on the border is part in Suffolk (St. Mary, Newmarket) and part in Cambridgeshire (All Saints, Newmarket). So in the writings below, you will see it involves both parts of Newmarket.

Thetford, Norfolk was where John and Harriet Pettingale were in the early 1820's. It is less than 7 miles from Brandon, Suffolk across the border.

It is shown before that George Pickingill (1816-1909) was living in Gravesend, Kent for a few years in the 1850's at the time when he married his wife.

There was a man name Francis Pettingale that was a coachman living in Gravesend in the 1850's till his death in 1862. His wife and young children ran a boarding house afterwards.

In the records, George Pickingill's name was spelled Pickingale and Pettingale more than Pickingill.

I have the feeling that Francis Pettingale was related somehow, perhaps 2nd cousins.

The research is complicated with the following issues:

First, we do not know where Thomas Pickingill (1747-1804) of Canewdon came from before or the names of his parents.

Second, we also don't know how the father of George Pickingill, Charles Pickingill (1790-1867) of Canewdon and Hockley was related to Thomas Pickingill.

Third, on the research on Francis Pettingale, we can only go back to his grandfather. The family was in Newmarket, Suffolk for two generations, but it is not known where John Pettingale (1760-1840) came from.

I find the Pettingale of Newmarket and Gravesend very interesting.

They were involved with horses. They would know of other contacts for disposing stolen horses.

Also Francis Pettingale's brother Henry Pettingale was the gatekeeper to the horse racing at Newmarket and he was known at other racing events at other places in England.

Another brother, Robert Pettingale became a Commission Agent at Newmarket races. He would be taking bets, etc. He also trained racing greyhounds. Robert Pettingale knew Baron Rothschild and his people.

Also a sister, Frances Pettingale married William Harris. They were Servant and Valet to Raglan G. H. Somerset for many years in London. Raglan was an upper class person, he was a son of a Lord and a grandson of a Duke.

Then Raglan was an employee to the ultimate upper class person..... the Queen Victoria. Raglan was one of the Gentlemen Ushers Quarterly Waiters for Queen Victoria. He worked at Buckingham Palace from 1873 to 1901.

So this research also shows that the Pickingill / Pettingale people had ways of meeting some upper class occult people through these contacts.

An inquest was held on the body of Dinah Pettingale on 11 July 1825 in Newmarket.

From the newspaper, Saint James Chronicle, Thursday 14 July 1825:

On Monday an inquest was held at Newmarket, on the body of Dinah, the wife of John Pettingale, who hanged herself on Saturday last.

It appeared that the deceased and her husband had lived on very bad terms - that just before the poor woman destroyed herself they had quarrelled, and he had pushed her down, by which one of the bones of her wrist was broken, and about three quarters of an hour afterwards she was found by the servant suspended from a bed-post; the husband was informed of it, and instead of going immediately to the body, he replied, "Oh, d--n it," and continued employing himself about his work, and it was not until he was a second time appealed to, that he would go to the body.

Witnesses proved that the deceased was addicted to drinking, and did not appear quite right in her mind, and that in frequent quarrels she had with her husband she was as much in fault as the man.

The jury returned a verdict, that she hanged herself whilst labouring under temporary derangement.

George Charvill was a witness in a Petty sessions case against a John Carter who stole some books from the church in Lidgate, Suffolk.

From the newspaper, Bury and Norwich Post, Tuesday 18 December 1877:

PETTY SESSIONS, TUE~DAY, DECEMBER 11.

[Before the Rev. W. Godfrey (Chairman). Sir Robert Affleck, Bart., and F. E. R. Fryer, Esq.]

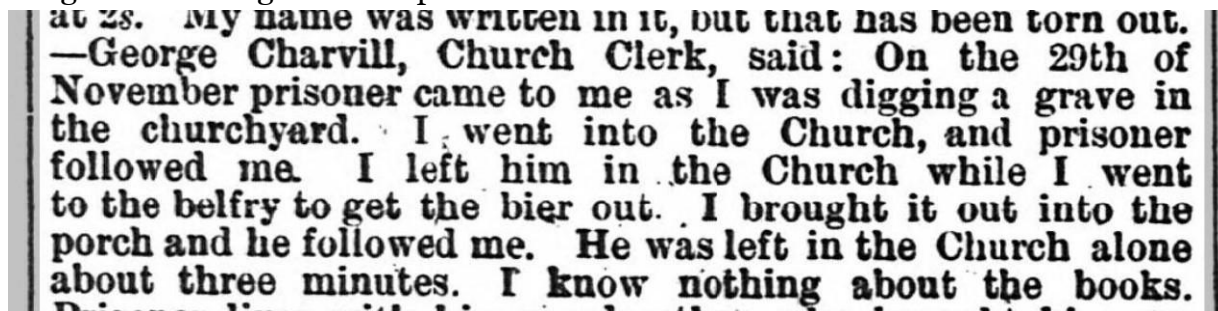

STEALING FROM A CHURCH - John Carter, aged 19, who appeared in the uniform of the North York Volunteer Artillery, was brought up in custody, on remand, charged by Mr. Simon Moore, Churchwarden, of Lidgate, with stealing from the Church at Lidgate, On and before the 28th ult., several Prayer-books and Hymn-books.....

(further down the long article)

- George Charvill, Church Clerk, said: On the 29th of November prisoner came to me as I was digging a grave in the churchyard. I went into the Church, and prisoner followed me. I left him in the Church while I went to the belfry to get the bier out. I brought it out into the porch and he followed me. He was left in the Church alone about three minutes. I know nothing about the books.

3rd generation

Francis Pettingale (1826 - 1862)

Husband of Sarah Sims

9. FRANCIS PETTINGALE (of John² . of John¹) was born ca. 1826 in St. Dunstan in the West, Middlesex and baptized 23 March 1832 in St. Mary church in Newmarket, Suffolk.

Father: John Pettingale (No. 5)

Mother: Harriet Eddy

Francis Pettingale was baptized as Frank Pettingale and seem to change his name to Francis around the time of his appearance in Gravesend, Kent. Perhaps when he left Newmarket, Suffolk, he didn't want to be identified as Frank.

It is known that the name Frank is a common diminutive for Francis. In this case it could be just that he didn't like Frank and preferred Francis.

He was born in St. Dunstan in the West in Middlesex according to the 1861 census.

He and his brother, Robert, were born in or near London when the family was there for a few years. They both were later baptized the same day in Newmarket, Suffolk after the family went back there.

~ 1832

From the England, Select Births and Baptisms:

Name / Baptism date / baptism place / Father / Mother

Frank Pettingal / 23 Mar 1832 / Newmarket Saint Mary, Suffolk, England / John Pettingal / Harriet

His brother Robert was baptized the same day.

~ 1841

In 1841, Frank Pettingale, age 13 years, was living with his parents in Newmarket, Suffolk.

From the 1841 census of Newmarket:

Names / Age & Sex / Occupation / Whether Born in same County

John Pettingale / 40 M / Lab. / Y

Harriet do / 40 F / ----- / N

Henry do / 15 M / ----- / Y

Frank do / 13 M / ----- / N

Robert do / 10 M / ----- / N

Frances do / 8 F / ----- / Y

Mary do / 5 F / ----- / Y

Notice that Frank and Robert Pettingale were not born in Suffolk. That was when the family was living in or near London when they were born.

~ 1851

The 1851 census for Newmarket was lost. This census had water damage and the records of some areas of England was totally damaged.

There was a court case involving Sarah Pettingale and her son Francis (Jr.) in Gravesend, Kent.

From the newspaper, Maidstone Journal and Kentish Advertiser, Monday 05 April 1869:

GRAVESEND.

PETTY SESSIONS.

Wednesday. - before the Mayor (F. Leith, Esq.), G. Taylor, and J. Munns, Esqrs.

CHARGE OF ASSAULT. - Thomas Mantle appeared to answer a summons charging him with assaulting Francis Pettingale, a little boy, on the 25th inst. Defendant was further charged with assaulting Sarah Pettingale, the mother of the lad.

It appears that on the day named defendant was laying turf on ground near Waterworks. According to his statement the lad Pettingale had been throwing stones and "kicking the turf about." Defendant told him to go away, the lad was "saucy," and defendant boxed his ears.

In stating the circumstances to the Bench the boy denied throwing stones or kicking the turf, and another little boy, Ernest Knowles, was put into the box, and corroborated his statement.

The case of the mother was that she went to defendant's house to enquire why he had beaten her boy, that defendant threw her down, and afterwards rudely pushed her out of the house. This defendant denied.

The bench fined defendant 1s. and costs for assaulting the boy.

3rd generation

Robert Pettingale (1831 - 1876)

Husband of Rebecca Clarke

10. ROBERT PETTINGALE (of John² . of John¹) was born ca. 1831 in London, Middlesex and baptized 23 March 1832 in St. Mary church in Newmarket, Suffolk.

Father: John Pettingale (No. 5)

Mother: Harriet Eddy

Robert Pettingale was born in London, Middlesex according to the 1861 census.

He and his older brother, Frank, were born in or near London when the family was there for a few years. They both were later baptized the same day in Newmarket, Suffolk after the family went back there.

~ 1832

From the England, Select Births and Baptisms:

Name / Baptism date / baptism place / Father / Mother

Robert Pettingale was a witness in a manslaughter case in Newmarket, Suffolk.

From the newspaper, Morning Chronicle, Thursday 11 September 1845:

MANSLAUGHTER at NEWMARKET.

On Saturday last a most dreadful case of manslaughter occurred at Newmarket. The name of the unfortunate deceased (from whom we understand, a more peaceful, good-humoured, and harmless man could not exist) was Henry Thorns, a hatter of Newmarket; and Richard Archer is the name of the culprit.

(long article continues)

THE INQUEST.

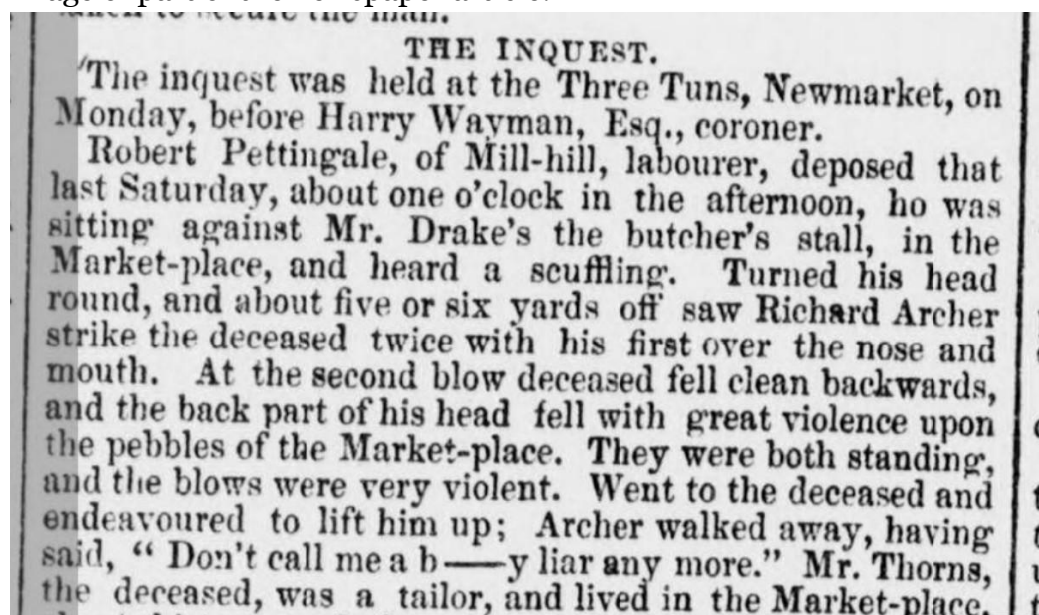

The inquest was held at the Three Tuns, Newmarket, on Monday, before Harry Wayman, Esq., coroner.

Robert Pettingale, of Mill-hill, labourer, depose that last Saturday, about one o'clock in the afternoon, he was sitting against Mr. Drake's the butcher's stall, in the Market-place, and heard a scuffling. Turned his head round, and about five or six yards off saw Richard Archer strike the deceased twice with his fist over the nose and mouth. At the second blow deceased fell clean backwards, and the back part of his head fell with great violence upon the pebbles of the Market-place.

They were both standing, and the blows were very violent. Went to the deceased and endeavoured to lift him up; Archer walked away, having said, "Don't call me a b----y liar any more."

Robert Pettingale was the Vice Chair in an event put on by Baron Rothschild at the Golden Lion Inn in Newmarket, Suffolk. The Baron wanted to celebrate for having a successful racing season.

From the newspaper, Bury Free Press, Saturday 25 November 1871:

BARON ROTHSCCHILD'S TURF SUCESESSES. - Baron Rothschild having determined to give an entertainment for the purpose of celebrating his victories upon the turf during last racing season, the festivities commenced on Friday last, when an excellent dinner was provided by Mrs. Westley, of the Golden Lion Inn, to which all the servants, stable lads, and tradesmen employed by the Baron were invited.

The large club room was nicely decorated with flowers, in various designs, composed chiefly of the Baron's colours, and each of the company wore a badge of the same colours. The chair was occupied by Mr. Alfred Frye, and the vice-chair was filled by Mr. Robert Pettingale. After the repast the usual loyal toasts were drunk, and the toast of the evening, "The Baron," was most enthusiastically received.

The healths of the Baroness and Miss Rothschild were also heartily drunk, and then followed that of the "Duke of Rutland," "The Turf," "Town and Trade of Newmarket," &c. Mr. Hayhoe, the Baron's training groom, was loudly cheered on entering the room, and his health and that of his family was received with hearty cheers, as was also that of Mr. Osborn, the respected head lad, and other members of the Baron's establishment.

The order was given for all to be merry and wise, and this injunction was strictly observed; at twelve o'clock, the time fixed for the adjournment of the feast, the lads quietly retired to their beds, and the company soon after broke up.

The entertainment was resumed at the Golden Lion on Saturday evening, and singing and dancing were maintained until midnight, when the entertainment was brought to a close with a round of ringing cheers for the Baron.

DIED.

On the 7th inst., at Newmarket, very suddenly, of apoplexy, Mr. Robert Pettingale, aged 45, a racing commissioner, and trainer of greyhounds.

From the newspaper, Bell's Life in London and Sporting Chronicle, Saturday 08 January 1876

DEATH OF MR R. PETTINGALE. - We regret to record the death of Mr Robert Pettingale, of Newmarket. Deceased, who died very suddenly yesterday (Friday), was well known to visitors at "head-quarters" during the race and coursing on meetings, and his pleasant manner and quaint humour made him a favourite with all. We are sorry to hear that he has left a widow and seven children quite unprovided for. Subscriptions in their aid will be thankfully received by Mr W. S. Heavens, station master, Newmarket.

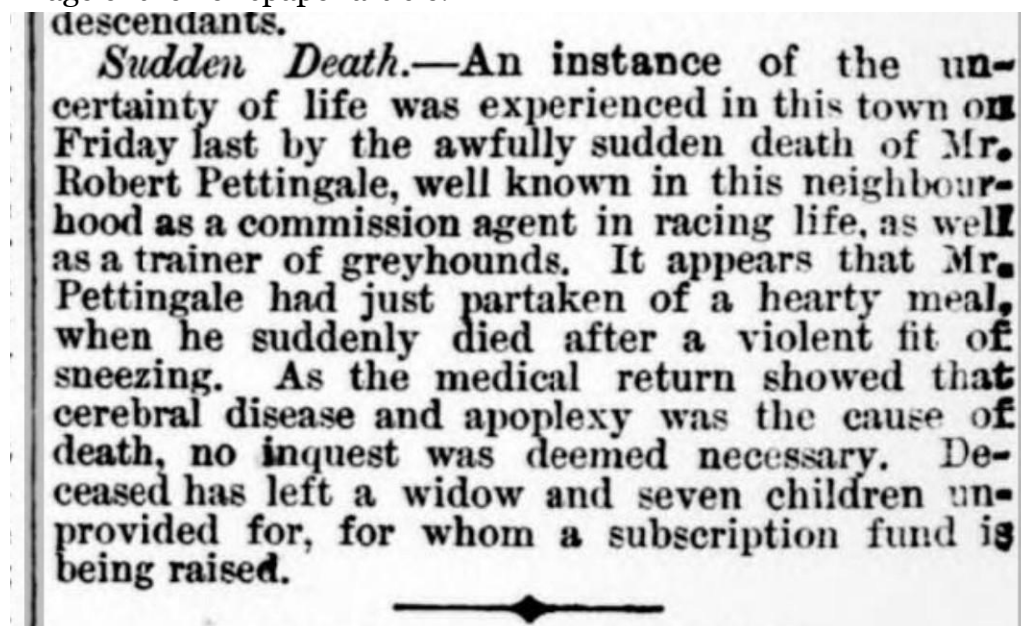

From the newspaper, Cambridge Independent Press, Saturday 15 January 1876:

Sudden Death. - An instance of the uncertainty of life was experienced in this town on Friday last by the awfully sudden death of Mr. Robert Pettingale, well known in this neighbourhood as a commission agent in racing life, as well as a trainer of greyhounds.

It appears that Mr. Pettingale had just partaken of a hearty meal, when he suddenly died after a violent fit of sneezing. As the medical return showed that cerebral disease and apoplexy was the cause of death, no inquest was deemed necessary.

Deceased has left a widow and seven children unprovided for, for whom a subscription fund is being raised.
